

How to integrate your Fitbit/Jawbone with your HeartFit account

Your Fitbit/Jawbone stats and dashboard can integrate with your rewards account by exchanging data. When you link FitBit/Jawbone to your account, the program will automatically sync your exercise data with your activity profile (you will no longer need to self report your exercise/steps). Integrating your Fitbit/Jawbone is easy. Just follow these steps to get started. NOTE: You must have a Fitbit or Jawbone account before you can complete this process. If you have not registered your device, you must complete this step before you start the integration process.

1. Log in to your rewards account.
2. From your home page menu, click on 'REGISTER YOUR TRACKER'.

3. Choose your device from the list. Now click 'SIGN UP'. Note the documentation to assist your with the operation of your device.

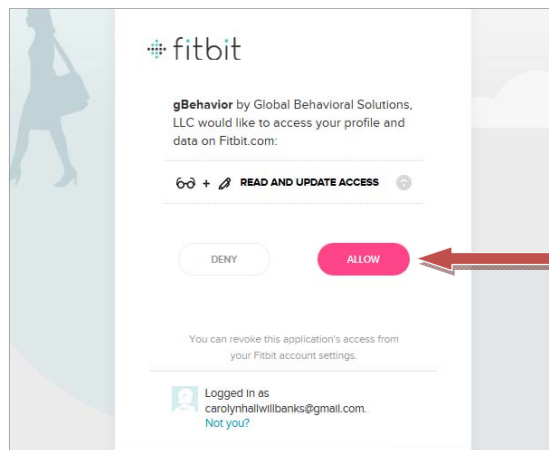

4. If you have a Fitbit account, click on ALLOW to grant permission to gBehavior, your rewards program management company, to access your data on Fitbit.com. Your personal and Fitbit information is never shared.

If you do not wish to grant access, click 'DENY'.

You will also be given the opportunity to change your user name and password if the email address at the bottom of the box is not you.

If you do not have a Fitbit account, go to www.fitbit.com and register your device.

5. If you have a Jawbone, click on SIGN UP.

6. Once you 'ALLOW' the two programs to integrate, You will return you to the 'Tracking Devices' screen in your rewards account.

If the Fitbit or Jawbone integration was completed, you will see the message 'You granted access on: 2014-0904).

Congratulations! Your device will automatically update your account with your exercise activity every 10 minutes. If you do not see this message, call customer service at 1-888-949-1001 for assistance.
